DATA RECOVERY
SERVICES

We've Got your Back!

Data recovery can be costly. That's why most Seagate® drives now include Rescue Data Recovery Services. Safeguard your data—and your budget—against unexpected data loss from most any mechanical, accidental, or natural disasters.

Unfortunately, Data Loss Happens

Have you ever experienced an accident or event that caused you to lose data? If so, you're not alone.

- + 25% of all PC users suffer data loss each year
- + Over 50% have reported losing data at least once
- + Only 17% of customers regularly backup their data

But What Are You Really Losing?

Of those who have experienced data loss, 57% were more upset about losing their data than their gadget.

That's because data is so much more than 1s and 0s. Data represents precious memories, passion projects, important documents, and valuable business insights.

Safeguard the Things You Love

Rescue Data Recovery Services help you defend against things like hard drive failure, viruses, software issues, natural disasters, human error, and other problems that can cause data loss.

+ Access to a team of world-class recovery experts

+ One in-lab attempt during coverage term

+ Your data returned on an encrypted storage device

+ A 95% success rate of in-house data recovery

+ No additional costs or hidden fees

All data recovery services performed are best effort. There is no guarantee that lost data will always be recovered.

Initiating a Claim is Easy

Initiating your claim is easy. Contact Rescue Data Recovery Services with the details of your data loss. After that, we'll send you a prepaid shipping label so you can send your damaged drive to the lab.

Recovery can take up to 15 business days. If the recovery attempt is successful, you'll receive your recovered data on an encrypted storage device. Otherwise, your damaged drive will be returned to you in the mail.

Peace of Mind for When the Unthinkable Happens

In the end, we hope you don't need us. But if you do, help is just a phone call away. Rest easy knowing that our team of data recovery experts is here to help you retrieve the things that matter most—no matter how you lost them.
